

Find an Organist or Pianist for your Church Service or Concert

ORGANISTSONLINE

www.organistsonline.org

Free to access, free to use

Organists Online is an internet based system for putting churches and choirs in contact with organists and pianists.

It's free to access and free to use at all stages.

The site includes searchable databases so that clients can search for an organist or pianist by name, telephone number, email address, qualifications, or just fragments of these, and also distance.

The database can also be searched by such criteria as availability during the week and special skills (can play from chord symbols, can conduct and train a choir, can arrange/compose if required).

The site includes a "Book an Organist" form on which you can say, apart from what, when, and where, how much you want to pay (as this is NOT an agency, there are no set fees) and what your special requirements are.
