Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey?

Traditional American

One of the special features of Norwegian Sangerstevne is, at the end of each concert, all participating singers join together for a couple of pieces. This song is so arranged that, if you don't have time to learn all four parts, it still makes musical sense if many people sing just the melody. So, please, if you are short of time, get to grips with the melody and join in the festival pieces at the end of your concert (and any other concerts, if you wish).
